HALAL

Puneet Sethi is the Assistant Vice President of Campus Dining Nadeem Siddiqui and Campus Wellness Dietitian. In an interview with the 'Prince', Sethi said, "It's an extra layer of communication, so that the staff knows that not only should the ingredients be halal, but there should be no cross contact with non-halal meat."

The background of the image shows a dark, slightly blurred scene. On the left, there is a white sign with a circular logo at the top containing the Arabic word 'حلال' (Halal) and the word 'HALAL' below it. Below the logo, the sign has some text that is partially obscured by the quote. To the right of the sign, a person's arm and hand are visible, holding a card. The card is white with a green border and has the word 'HALAL' printed vertically in green. The person is wearing a dark sleeve. The overall lighting is dim, with the sign and card providing some contrast.

“My eating experience has been very positive since the cards have been implemented because I now feel like I’m being catered to. I know it was especially hard for students that only eat Zabiha halal who did not know if they could use the grill at all.”

Campus Dining's Ramadan Meal Plan began today. Students began to pick up customizable Suhoor meal kits at the convenience store in Frist Campus Center starting on Feb. 27.

Hobson College, which is set to be completed in Spring 2027, will have an entire halal-certified dining station.

Caption: Over Wintersession, Campus Dining added halal cards at the grill stations in residential dining halls. Each residential dining hall allows students to hand the dining hall staff a small card that reads halal to indicate that their food must be made in accordance with halal requirements. Students who keep halal cannot eat pork, any form of alcohol or alcohol-containing product, or meat that is not properly slaughtered according to Islamic belief.
