

Use this area to offer a short teaser of your email's content. Text here will show in the preview area of some email clients.

THE DAILY PRINCETONIAN

Contents:

- Cartoon: First week vs. after
- News & Notes: Town parking enforcement officer fired
- PLO representative Areikat: Palestine must stop concessions to Israel
- Like a rodent
- Finding that special something
- Unless there's consent
- New chair of the Alumni Council Newman '78 hopes to increase participation among graduate alumni
- Princeton announces committee to review controversial grade deflation policy
- USG Academics Committee proposes reforms to final exams
- Eisgruber '83 defends legacy admissions, grade deflation at New York alumni event

Cartoon: First week vs. after

By Marisa Chow on Oct 07, 2013 09:46 pm

Read in browser »

News & Notes: Town parking enforcement officer fired

By Daily Princetonian Staff on Oct 07, 2013 09:14 pm

A town parking enforcement officer was fired Monday after allegations that he overlooked parking violations in return for bribes, the Times of Trenton reported. Chris Boutote, who is also a retired Princeton Borough police officer, and another enforcement officer, John Hughes, were suspended last month after passersby reported certain cars with menus and shopping bags [...]

Read in browser »

PLO representative Areikat: Palestine must stop concessions to Israel

By Jacob Donnelly on Oct 07, 2013 09:13 pm

While Palestine continues to engage Israel in negotiations for an independent state, the nation cannot make any more territorial concessions, Maen Rashid Areikat, chief representative of the delegation of the Palestinian Liberation Organization to the United States, said in a Monday evening lecture titled, “Twenty Years After Oslo: Lessons Learned and Future Options?” “When we [...]

Read in browser »

Like a rodent

By Morgan Jerkins on Oct 07, 2013 09:12 pm

I am a self-proclaimed rodent. My eyes are aglow when I see an email from the Free Food Listserv stating that there's left over Indian food from Mehek or sandwiches from Olives. I try to control my excitement as the time gets nearer to when a study break is supposed to commence. If it's food [...]

Read in browser »

Finding that special something

By Lea Trusty on Oct 07, 2013 09:10 pm

Before first arriving on Princeton's campus last fall, I had subconsciously created a checklist with a million and one expectations for my four years here — meeting amazing people that I'd call friends for life, or discussing Thoreau under an oak tree. I admit that this isn't the smartest thing to do, but with so [...]

Read in browser »

Unless there's consent

By Spencer Shen on Oct 07, 2013 09:08 pm

AlcoholEdu has been part of Princeton's smorgasbord of freshman orientation activities for several years, but this year the Class of 2017 had an additional online course to take before they set foot on campus. “Unless There's Consent,” a program designed by SHARE to educate incoming freshmen on sexual harassment and abuse, is well-intentioned. Last year, [...]

Read in browser »

New chair of the Alumni Council Newman '78 hopes to increase participation among graduate alumni

By Joseph Sheehan on Oct 07, 2013 08:00 pm

New Alumni Council chair Nancy Newman '78 will make increasing graduate alumni participation in alumni events one of her top priorities, she said in a recent interview with The Daily Princetonian. Newman was elected to replace Henry Von Kohorn '66 two years ago, and in accordance with the bylaws of the Alumni Council, served as vice [...]

Read in browser »

Princeton announces committee to review controversial grade deflation policy

By Anastasya Lloyd-Damnjanovic on Oct 07, 2013 07:07 pm

The University's controversial grade deflation policy — which stipulates that no more than 35 percent grades given out in any department should be A's — will come under review over the next year, the University announced Monday morning. The review of the grading policy comes only three months after new University President Christopher Eisgruber '83 took over from former [...]

Read in browser »

USG Academics Committee proposes reforms to final exams

By Anna Mazarakis on Oct 07, 2013 06:07 pm

Changes could be coming to the University's final examinations period. USG Academics Committee chair Dillon Sharp '14 presented a series of recommendations for the final examinations period to the Faculty Committee on Examinations and Standing on Friday. His proposals ranged from giving extensions for Dean's Date assignments to creating a faculty-student committee that could help formalize how [...]

Read in browser »

Eisgruber '83 defends legacy admissions, grade deflation at New York alumni event

By Teddy Schleifer on Oct 07, 2013 05:01 pm

NEW YORK — University President Christopher Eisgruber '83 defended the high percentage of legacy applicants that earn admission to Princeton on Monday evening in an address to University alumni at the midtown Sheraton Hotel that proved to be the most candid unveiling of his presidential platform to date. The event was the first of 13 visits [...]

Read in browser »

follow on Twitter | friend on Facebook | forward to a friend

Copyright © 2013 The Daily Princetonian, All rights reserved.

unsubscribe from this list | update subscription preferences