Staff Picks: Men's basketball at Saint Joseph's

MEN'S BASKETBALL AT SAINT JOSEPH'S

“The Tigers have all of the tools to push past the Hawks, but they will need to play all forty minutes with intensity.

With a win tomorrow, they set themselves up on a good pace for the rest of the month.”

MEN'S BASKETBALL AT SAINT JOSEPH'S

“Ultimately, the Tigers need to be challenged and battle-tested to confront problems and improve as a team. The Tiger’s path to an Ivy Madness Championship and automatic March Madness bid is a season-long process.”

MEN'S BASKETBALL AT SAINT JOSEPH'S

"I believe that the Hawks will present the Tigers with a challenge too difficult to surmount. While the Tigers still have significant potential this season, their defensive travails will prove to be overwhelming against the athletic superiority of St. Joseph's."

MEN'S BASKETBALL AT SAINT JOSEPH'S

“In what looks like a defensive battle and turns into a shoutout by the end, the Tigers will take a close win, led by great shooting and a dominant performance from Pierce.”

Caption: Following a disappointing performance at the Myrtle Beach Invitational, the Tigers (6–3 overall, 0–0 Ivy League) are searching for their rhythm. Now, Princeton faces a tougher challenge on the road against St. Joseph’s (5–2, 0–0 Atlantic 10) in a pivotal non-conference matchup. The Daily Princetonian Sports staff shares their picks for the game.
